Summary of Legislation

The bill requires the Tony Grampas Youth Services board to convene a group of interested parties to create a statewide youth development plan to identify key issues and align strategic efforts to achieve positive outcome for all youths. Specifically, the plan must:

- identify initiatives and strategies, organizations, and gaps in coverage that affect youth development outcomes;
- identify services, funding, and partnerships necessary to ensure successful transition to adulthood;
- determine what is necessary in terms of community involvement and development;
- identify existing youth service organizations, including demographics of youths served, current services, and capacity;
- identify successful youth development strategies nationally and in Colorado; and
- create a shared vision for how a strong youth development network can be created and measured.

The plan must include a baseline measure of youth activities, which may include data and resources collected on youth risk behavior such as those contributing to injury and violence; sexual behaviors contributing to unintended pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases; alcohol, tobacco, and drug use; unhealthy dietary behaviors; and inadequate physical activity. Data may also be used from various state agencies.

The report is required to be completed by September 30, 2014 and biennially thereafter. The report is to be discussed as part of the annual SMART act hearing beginning in January 2015. The bill specifies that the Department of Human Services (DHS) is required to conduct the report if the Tony Grampsas Youth Services Program is transferred from the Department of Public Health and Environment (DPHE) under House Bill 13-1117. If the program is not transferred, the DPHE is responsible for the report.

State Expenditures

The bill increases workload in the Tony Grampsas Youth Services Program beginning in FY 2013-14 to assist the program's board in creating and updating the statewide youth development plan, including creating measures, conducting outreach with stakeholders and community groups, and other tasks. It is assumed that existing program staff can work with stakeholders to complete the required report and no additional appropriation is required. Other state agencies referenced in the bill can provide data to assist in the development of the youth development plan at no additional cost. Workload under the bill will be in the DHS if HB 13-1117 becomes law, or in the DPHE if HB 13-1117 does not become law.
