

Sales Tax - Opening A Business (Representative)

Do I need to obtain a sales tax license as a representative for a retail company?

If you are an independent sales representative for another company, you do not need to apply for a sales tax license or file a sales tax return. A retail company selling goods through independent distributors establishes each of its representatives as individual branch accounts and files the information with the Department of Revenue.