

Question: Has the Department of Revenue received the electronic notification from the Office of Economic Development and International Trade?

Answer: For calendar year 2012, the information is currently available. If you received certification of this credit, you may now file your return.