CONFERENCE SPEAKER PRESENTATIONS AND AUDIO RECORDINGS AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC

Today, more than 550 attendees have gathered at the Denver Marriott City Center to learn about Colorado's energy issues and opportunities at the first ever "Colorado's New Energy Economy: The Path Forward". Speakers include Gov. Bill Ritter, Jr., Xcel Energy Chairman of the Board, President and CEO Richard C. Kelly, Chuck Kutscher of the National Renewable Energy Laboratory, and many others.

Conference presentations and recordings will be available by the end of the week for review or for those who are unable to attend. Visit the Governor's Energy Office website at www.colorado.gov/energy to review and listen to the conference speaker presentations, see attendee list and to complete a conference evaluation.

"Colorado's New Energy Economy: The Path Forward" is being sponsored by the Colorado Public Utilities Commission (PUC), the Governor's Energy Office (GEO) and the Office of Consumer Counsel (OCC), in partnership with Energy Outreach Colorado.
