

media release

Colorado Department of Agriculture

www.colorado.gov/ag

www.facebook.com/coloradoag

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

October 4, 2013

Contact: Wendy White, (303) 239-4119, Wendy.White@state.co.us

Make Colorado Agriculture Part of Family Traditions

LAKEWOOD, Colo.— Autumn has arrived and it's time to plan fall vacations, family meals, and holiday gatherings. Colorado agriculture can be a part of your family's traditions this year.

The Colorado Department of Agriculture offers a wide variety of online resources to connect you with agritourism activities and local foods. Visit www.coloradoagritourism.com to find the Colorado Corn Maze & Pumpkin Patch List, Colorado Proud Restaurant Guide and Colorado Food & Agriculture Gift Guide.

"Harvest continues in Colorado with great local foods and fun activities," said Wendy White, marketing specialist for the Colorado Department of Agriculture. "Whether you are looking to find that perfect pumpkin, get lost in a maze or start your holiday shopping early, we have the resources you need."

Online resources include a list featuring corn mazes across the state as well as harvest festivals and pumpkin patches. The site also lists farmers' markets, bird watching trails, wineries, agricultural festivals, ranch vacations, local restaurants, holiday gift ideas and more.

For more information, visit www.coloradoagritourism.com or call (303) 239-4119.

###