

CHAPP Participatory Action Research Resource List

If you are interested in learning more about Participatory Action Research (PAR), or Community-Based Participatory Research (CBPR), please consult the resources below.

- Community-Campus Partnerships for Health: Visit their website at <http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/commbas.html> or visit <http://mailman2.u.washington.edu/mailman/listinfo/cbpr> to join their listserv.
- Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ): This agency hosted a conference on Community-Based Participatory Research in November 2001. View the conference proceedings at <http://www.ahrq.gov/about/cpcr/cbpr/cbpr1.htm>.
- Canadian Institute on Health Research: Their website contains a program evaluation of their HIV/AIDS community-based research programs at <http://www.cihr-irsc.gc.ca/e/39974.html>.

Books and articles have also been written about this subject:

- Minkler, M. & Wallerstein, N. (Eds.) (2003). Community Based Participatory Research for Health. San Francisco: Jossey-Bass.
- Israel, B.A., Eng, E., Schulz, A.J., & Parker, E.A. (Eds.) (2005). Methods in Community Based Participatory Research for Health. San Francisco: Jossey-Bass.
- Reason, P. & Bradbury, H. (Eds.) (2007). Handbook of Action Research. Thousand Oaks: Sage Publications.
- Public Health Agency of Canada: A literature review of community-based HIV prevention interventions was released earlier this year. It can be viewed here using your Adobe reader: http://mailman2.u.washington.edu/pipermail/cbpr/attachments/20090831/8418f6cf/LitReview_ImpactofCommunity-BasedHIVPreventionInterventions_JonesSargeant_March09.obj.
- Progress in Community Health Partnerships: This journal focuses on community health partnerships and specifically highlights CBPR as a method to address public health. Please see contents here: http://muse.jhu.edu/journals/progress_in_community_health_partnerships_research_education_and_action/
- American Journal of Preventive Medicine: This journal recently released a special CBPR supplement issue, which can be found here: <http://rwjcp.unc.edu/resources/articles/AJPM.html>.
- American Journal of Public Health: Has many articles on CBPR methods and case studies: <http://www.ajph.org>.
- Environmental Health Perspectives: This journal released a CBPR supplement issue. Contents can be viewed here: <http://www.ehponline.org/docs/2002/suppl-2/toc.html>.