Public Comment Period Open for State of Colorado Homeland Security and All-Hazards Strategic Plan

DENVER – Friday, December 13, 2013 – The State of Colorado Homeland Security and All-Hazards Strategic Plan public comment period opens today and is open until December 31, 2013. The input of all those living and working in the state is important finalizing the framework for all-hazards strategic planning.

To share your thoughts and comments on the draft version of the State Strategy visit the Colorado Division of Homeland Security's website at <http://bit.ly/IK6sqB>.

This document establishes an all-hazards strategic framework for the State of Colorado and its jurisdictions, agencies, non-governmental organizations, private sector partners and residents to prevent, protect, mitigate, respond and recover from all-hazards. It is a joint, multi-jurisdictional, multi-organizational document that provides long range direction and guidance for stakeholders and leadership within the State of Colorado.

The goals, strategies, objectives and tasks outlined in this strategic plan will enable the State of Colorado to improve all-hazard preparedness and resiliency, leading to fewer lives lost, reduced economic impacts in affected communities, improved response capabilities, and faster recovery time.

The Strategy is a product of the Homeland Security and All-Hazard Senior Advisory Committee
