

Retail Sales Tax Return for Occasional Sales

Instructions

General Information

All retail sales are subject to sales tax unless exempt by statute. A retail sale is a sale of tangible personal property whether the sale is made by a licensed vendor or between private parties. Small home businesses, temporary special event license plate transactions, purchases of a business and isolated sales taxes are reported on this form.

Small Home Businesses

Small home businesses who qualify for occasional isolated sales treatment must collect and remit state sales tax, any applicable special district tax and state collected local tax on the gross sales price of items sold. Businesses who are not required to obtain a sales tax license must submit their total annual sales tax collected by April 15 following the calendar year. For additional information on sales tax requirements for small home businesses, refer to FYI Sales 8.

Temporary Special Event License Plates

A dealership or manufacturer must collect and remit state sales tax, any applicable special district tax and state collected local tax on the taxable amount for each vehicle that is donated for use at a special event.

Purchase of a Business

A buyer of business assets is liable for sales tax on any tangible personal property acquired in the business purchase transaction. The buyer must file and pay the sales tax within 20 days after the close of the first business accounting period (or month if accounting period is a calendar month) if the purchaser has a sales tax license. Sales tax is due by the 20th day of the month following the purchase date if the purchaser does not have a sales tax license. For additional information on the purchase of a business, see FYI Sales 74.

Isolated Sales

State sales tax, any applicable special district tax and state collected local tax is due on isolated sales on the gross selling price of the items sold. Sales tax is due by the 20th day of the month following the sale.
