Demand for Payment of Wage: Instructions and Information

This Demand for Payment of Wages form is filled out by the employee and then sent to the current or former employer who owes the wages for work performed in Colorado.

Please note:

- You are not required to send a written demand for payment of wages to the current or former employer.
- Sending a written demand to your current or former employer may assist you in recovering your wages.
- Sending a written demand may also increase the chance of obtaining monetary penalties from your employer if you subsequently pursue the matter in Court or with the Division.

Pursuant to C.R.S. § 8-4-109\(3\)\(a\), “[i]f an employer refuses to pay wages or compensation . . . the employee, his or her designated agent, or the division may send a written demand for the payment.” If an employer fails to pay the wages or compensation due to the employee within fourteen days after the written demand is sent, “the employer shall be liable to the employee for the wages or compensation, and a penalty.” C.R.S. § 8-4-109\(3\)\(b\).

1. Please follow these guidelines when using this form:

- Fill out the form completely, including the date and your signature.
- Make a photocopy of the form for your records.
- SEND THE ORIGINAL FORM TO THE EMPLOYER WHO OWES YOU WAGES.
- Send the form to the employer’s correct address.
- You may wish to send the form via certified mail so there is a record of mailing and receipt.
- Keep any other records that may prove when, and to whom, you sent this form.
- Do NOT send this form to the Division of Labor Standards and Statistics. This form does not initiate a wage complaint with the Division.

2. If you would like the Division to assist you in recovering your wages:

- You MUST fill out a separate Wage Complaint Form. See the Wage Complaint Instructions and Frequently Asked Questions for more information.
- If you do not send this Demand for Payment of Wages form to your employer, the Division’s Notice of Complaint constitutes a written demand for legal purposes. C.R.S. § 8-4-111\(5\).

3. If the employer does not pay your wages within 14 days after the demand for payment, the Division may order the employer to pay you the greater of the following penalties:

- 125% of the wages due,
- OR
- Your average daily earnings for each day (up to ten days) until payment is made. C.R.S. § 8-4-109\(3\)\(b\).

Penalties may increase by 50% if the withholding of wages is found to be willful.

In addition to the possible penalties, the Division may also order the employer to pay a fine (payable to the State of Colorado) of up to $50 per day for every day the employer fails to pay your wages.

4. If you would prefer to go to Court to pursue your wages:

- You may pursue the matter in Court without contacting the Division. The Division wage complaint process is not required and is not a prerequisite for independent legal action.
- If you have already pursued the wage complaint in Court, you may not subsequently use the Division process to address the same wage complaint that you pursued in Court.

Please note: This form is provided by the Colorado Division of Labor Standards and Statistics for informational purposes only. The Division cannot provide legal advice related to the validity of any specific claims. If you need legal advice regarding your specific circumstances, please consult an attorney.
