

Attachment 1: H-1B Targeted Industries and Occupations

CDLE and Workforce Partners have agreed to target the following industries and occupations for the H-1B grant. Other occupations may be served if they are in the same career pathway as one or more of the targeted occupations and if they will lead to employment in one of the targeted occupations.

Information Technology (NAICS – 51)

Computer/Information Systems Managers	Network & Computer Systems Administrators
Computer and Information Scientists – Research	Computer Security Specialists
Computer Programmers	Database Administrators
Computer Programmers, non R&D	Computer Specialists, All Others
Computer Software Engineers	Web Developers & Administrators
Applications, Computer Software Engineers, Systems Software	Network Systems & Data Communications Analysts
Computer Systems Analysts	Computer Support Specialists
	Computer Hardware Engineers

STEM – Professional, Scientific, & Technical Services (including Aerospace) (NAICS – 54)

Engineering Managers
Mechanical Engineers
Electrical Engineers
Electronics Engineers, except computer
Chemical Engineers
Engineers, All Others
Biomedical Engineers
Materials Engineers
Physicists
Atmospheric and Space Scientists

Advanced Manufacturing (NAICS – 31-33)

General & Operations Managers
Industrial Production Managers
Quality Control
Industrial Engineers
Logisticians
Commercial & Industrial Designers