

Prospective Applicants

Organizations interested in applying for an NHPRC grant should begin by contacting the Coordinator for a complete set of current guidelines:

Daniel Stokes

Director for State Programs
NHPRC-NP
National Archives Building, Room 607
Washington, DC 20408
(202) 501-5610
daniel.stokes@nara.gov

Prospective applicants should contact the coordinator before proceeding with an application. This will allow an informal consideration of the proposal's potential, and, if necessary, for suggestions on developing a more competitive proposal for the national-level review process.

Finished proposals must be submitted to the Coordinator who will forward copies to each Board member for evaluation. When this screening process is complete, some applications may require revisions prior to submission to the NHPRC.

Applicants are encouraged to heed deadlines established for various kinds of projects and provide the coordinator with the specified number of proposal copies.
