

Dr. Lisa Brone

Dr. Lisa Brone is a board certified physician in both Family Practice and Sports Medicine with over 19 years of clinical experience. Dr. Brone received her medical degree from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. She completed her residency in Family Medicine at Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospital in Greensboro, NC and her fellowship in Primary Care Sports Medicine at Sports Medicine Grant in Columbus, OH.

Dr. Brone was the owner of her own clinic, Family and Sports Medicine of Boulder Valley from 2009 to 2013. Prior to that, she was a team physician and instructor at the University of Colorado at Boulder for 5 years and served as a team physician at Virginia Tech for 3 years. She has extensive experience as a locums tenens physician around the country, including serving high need populations on Indian Reservations in Alaska and Arizona.

Dr. Brone is very passionate about wellness and total patient care. She is excited to be part of the Paladina Health team in order to spend more time with her patients and make sure they have the care and follow up that is required.

Dr. Brone is very involved in volunteer work, having participated in several Medical Brigade trips to Ecuador and serving the Stout Street Clinic for the Homeless in Denver, CO.

She is also an active public speaker on sports medicine topics ranging from Beginning Triathletes to the Essentials of a Sports Physical.

In her spare time she loves the outdoors. She is an outdoor photographer and hiker (often in tandem), and her dog often makes an appearance in her photos.

Dr. David Malfese

Dr. David Malfese has been practicing Family Medicine for more than 12 years. He earned his medical degree from Southern Illinois University and completed his Family Practice Residency at the Medical College of Wisconsin in 2001.

He began his career practicing Family Medicine at the only clinic in a small Wisconsin town where, because of limited access to specialists, he would often admit and care for his own patients in the community hospital.

Prior to joining Paladina Health, Dr. Malfese worked for the Marshfield Clinic in Wausau, WI for eight years where he focused on outpatient clinical care for all ages and served as Department Chair for one year. Dr. Malfese went into family medicine because he “enjoys developing relationships and connecting with patients” and is excited about the Paladina Health practice.

He is married with one step daughter and three adopted Dachshunds. He enjoys watching movies, riding motorcycles and hiking. In addition, he plays many instruments and loves creating music. Make sure to ask him about the Beatles!
