COLORADO WEB USER REQUIREMENTS

Web Users will provide the required information in the FROI on line form.

Web Users are subject to periodic DOWC data quality audits.

Format of data elements and definitions will conform to the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions (IAIABC) data dictionary, including future amendments, unless this requirement is modified by DOWC.

Web Users are unable to comply with EDI requirements and will only use the Web to submit FROI records. Once the Web User is approved for production, they will no longer file the equivalent paper forms. If at any time a Web User would like to change to the EDI format, they will only be allowed one form of transmittal of data and will be removed from Web Users.

Web Users rejection rate must continue to meet acceptable levels for the User to remain in production.

Web User will electronically correct of errors identified and reported by DOWC. All statutory time requirements for reporting must be met. Web User will pay any associated costs.

Web user may withdraw from participation upon 30 days written notice to DOWC.

Sender shall retain the content of the data transmissions in confidence to the extent required by law.
